The said selector/s will be excluded from final decisions regarding the composition of the team for which they are being considered. If this results in none or only one selector being able to participate in the final decision making, the selections for that age group will be made by the TI or their authorised nominee/s, as necessary, provided always that none of these persons so nominated are in contention for selection for the age group in question.

5.1 The TI Masters Committee will take several factors into consideration when selecting players for each team, including but not limited to:

(iv) An exception may be made should there be an individual of exceptional ability/standard who may not meet the minimum selection criteria detailed at Section 4.2 above but who played in other important events in the previous 12 months and achieved exceptional results as detailed by the player. It should be noted the decision whether firstly a player is significantly stronger and secondly whether to select on that basis is entirely at the discretion of the Masters Committee. The Masters Committee will also consider genuine injury, illness or other extenuating circumstances detailed on a players nomination form under clause 4.3(i) above.

Any exception under this clause is to be limited to one player per team.

(v) A presumption in favour of selecting from within a 5-year age group will be weighed against choosing the strongest teams in certain circumstances; eg. whether or not Ireland is represented at the older age group at the time. (Most relevant to the 4 Nations events)

(vi) The TI Masters Committee will also take into consideration a player's overall suitability to represent Ireland, having regard to past conduct and sportsmanship both on and off the court, the limited spots available and the overall composition of the team.

5.2 TI Masters Committee will forward their selections to TI within a timeframe as stipulated by TI.

5.3 As the TI Masters Committee' correspondence, deliberations, discussions and notes contain personal information and other confidential information they are not required to be shared with any person other than the relevant TI officials appointed by TI.

If any vacancies are still not filled after exhausting the list of eligible players who have been nominated within a particular age group, then the TI Masters Committee reserves the right to select replacements from players who do not meet the minimum selection criteria at 4.2. This may include players from a higher age group.
